CALL FOR PAPERS

This symposium will bring together young scholars who work on multilingualism from different perspectives: eg. cognitive, linguistic, sociolinguistic or educational. Senior scholars can also attend the symposium as co-authors of the work presented by young researchers. Submissions are solicited for 20 minute oral presentations and for posters. Abstracts should be no more than 300 words. Authors’ names, affiliations and contact details should be included in a separate second document. Abstracts and the second document should be submitted to dism2016@gmail.com by November 1, 2015.

The conference fee is EUR 75 for early birds (and EUR 125 for late registration). The International Association of Multilingualism has agreed to fund 12 grants (400 € each) for elected graduate student to attend the symposium. Further information about applications for funding will be communicated to authors in the acceptance letter.
